

VIRGINIA CATTLE MAY BE KEPT FROM INFECTION

No Case of Foot and Mouth Disease
Has Been Found in This State.

PROMPT WORK WILL PREVENT
Governor Stuart Asks Co-Operation of All Cattle Raisers and Dealers in Protecting Large and Growing Industry From Infection.

Vigorous steps are being taken by State and Federal authorities to protect Virginia from the foot and mouth disease which is affecting the cattle of the United States. The disease, a single case of which in this State would result in a quarantine of the entire State, and if the farmers and stock raisers will heed the advice of the authorities, it is believed that the State will be entirely immune from this scourge. The subject is one in which the State and Federal authorities are working in close cooperation. As a cattle raiser himself, and an advocate of development of the live stock industry in Virginia, the Governor has appealed to him to take prompt action to prevent the bringing of the foot and mouth disease into Virginia, and that every effort of the authorities will be exerted to save the cattle of this State from infection.

STATE AND FEDERAL AGENCIES CO-OPERATE

Dr. J. C. Ferneyhough, State veterinarian, working in conjunction with the Bureau of Animal Industry, has proclaimed a quarantine against all cattle sent into Virginia from Chicago since October 1. None is known to have been received from Chicago since October 1. A quarantine against the spread of foot and mouth disease, and in addition, the State has taken steps to prevent the bringing of the disease into Virginia, and that every effort of the authorities will be exerted to save the cattle of this State from infection.

The Governor took action after eleven States had been quarantined by the Federal Department of Agriculture. The States are Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Maryland, Wisconsin, Iowa, and from none of these States may cattle be shipped into Virginia.

In addition, all shipments of live stock received in the State since October 1 are to be segregated and are not to be moved until they have been examined by the State Veterinarian. News from Chicago is to the effect that new cases are reported daily by the 135 inspectors examining cattle.

BEST SAFEGUARD IS IN WIDEST PUBLICITY

In view of the importance of the matter to the people of this State, Governor Stuart last night requested the newspapers to give the protection of the widest publicity. The best safeguard, he said, was putting the buyers and handlers of live stock on their guard, and making conditions at the earliest possible moment.

The Governor's proclamations follow: Chicago shipments. "Whereas, it has been determined by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry that the virus of a contagious, communicable disease known as foot and mouth disease, exists in the live stock of the city of Chicago, and that the live stock of the city of Chicago since October 1, 1914, are to be segregated and are not to be moved until they have been examined by the State Veterinarian by said bureau, and, by authority conferred by section 1599, paragraph 4, of an act of the General Assembly, approved March 12, 1908, authorizing the Virginia State Live Stock Sanitary Board to establish and maintain such quarantine rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to protect the domestic animals of this State against all contagious diseases affecting live stock, said board has, through Dr. J. C. Ferneyhough, State Veterinarian, declared quarantine against shipments of live stock from the city of Chicago since October 1, 1914;

Now, therefore, I, H. C. Stuart, Governor of Virginia, do hereby proclaim that all shipments of live stock from the city of Chicago since October 1, 1914, are from this date under quarantine, and are not to be allowed to mingle with other live stock, and not to be moved until permission is given by the State Veterinarian or until this order is rescinded.

Given under my hand, and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth, at Richmond, this 9th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

H. C. STUART, Governor.
By the Governor:
B. O. JAMES,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

State Quarantine.
Whereas, it has been determined by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, and notice has been duly given to the State Veterinarian of Virginia, that a contagious, communicable disease, known as foot and mouth disease, exists in live stock of the States of Michigan, New York, Ohio, Iowa, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Illinois and Wisconsin;

And whereas, by authority conferred by section 1599, paragraph 4, of an act of the General Assembly, approved March 12, 1908, authorizing the Virginia State Live Stock Sanitary Board to establish and maintain such quarantine rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to protect the domestic animals of this State against all contagious diseases affecting live stock, said board has, through Dr. J. C. Ferneyhough, State Veterinarian, now, therefore,

I, H. C. Stuart, Governor of Virginia, do hereby proclaim that the State of Virginia is quarantined against the States of Michigan, New York, Ohio, Iowa, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Massachusetts, Illinois and Wisconsin, and that no live stock from any of these States may be moved into this State until this order is rescinded.

Given under my hand and under the lesser seal of the Commonwealth, at Richmond, this 9th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and thirty-ninth.

H. C. STUART, Governor.
By the Governor:
B. O. JAMES,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

BOND ISSUE MEETS WITH APPROVAL OF ALDERMEN

Upper Branch Passes Favorably on Budget for Annexed Territory.

SEE NO NEED FOR CITY FARM
New Ward Plan Is Concurred In.
Mayor Asks Funds to Bring City-
Planning Exhibit Here—Many Appropriations.

Working smoothly, swiftly and practically without debate, the Board of Aldermen last night in less than two hours disposed of a dock crowded with a large number of financial measures reported to that body from the Common Council for concurrence. The Board concurred in an order at 8:15 o'clock for the Board of Public Works and at 9 o'clock it stood adjourned.

The Board concurred by a unanimous vote in the ordinance authorizing a $34,429.94 bond issue, the proceeds of which are to be expended exclusively for permanent improvements in the newly-annexed territory. The issue is well advanced, the Board concurred in the ordinance authorizing the purchase of a city farm at a cost not exceeding $23,037.50, the amount available for this purpose from a recent bond issue. Mr. Workman informed the Board that he had introduced a bill of finance by request in order to establish definitely the expending authority, as well as to settle the long-pending city farm agitation. He asked for a suspension of the rules to place the ordinance upon its passage.

SEE NO NEED FOR

PURCHASE OF FARM
Alderman Mitchell, chairman of the Public Utilities Committee, a subcommittee from which reported recently that the city had no need at present for a farm, opposed the measure as being unnecessary and unimportant. He asked the body to decline to suspend the rules, and to leave the matter to be settled by a recommendation from the Public Utilities Committee. The committee, he said, had reported in due season. Alderman Christian, chairman of the subcommittee which reported adversely upon the farm proposition, repeated his conviction that the purchase of a farm would involve a waste of money and serve no useful purpose.

Alderman Gunst moved that the resolution offered by Alderman Workman be laid on the table. The chair held that Mr. Gunst's motion was not strictly in order, since if the body refused to suspend the rules the measure stood referred. A vote on the motion to suspend the rules resulted in its defeat. It is 2 to 2, and the resolution is referred for report to the Committee on Public Buildings, Properties and Utilities.

NEW WARD PLAN, CONCURRED IN

The board concurred unanimously in the ordinance which redistricts the city into four wards of approximately equal size. Under a suspension of the rules it passed a resolution offered by Alderman Puller directing the City Auditor to have printed for distribution among Council members and city authorities, 350 copies of the revised city charter.

A communication from the Mayor recommended an appropriation of $400 for bringing to Richmond the city planning exhibit of the American City Planning Institute.

The Mayor inclosed a joint resolution making the appropriation and strongly urged its passage. It was referred for report to the Committee on Finance.

Alderman Grady introduced an ordinance appropriating $25,000, or as much of it as may be necessary, for the payment to Henrico and Chesterfield Counties of such debts as may be due them from the city arising from the taking over of school property during the recent annexation. He introduced also an ordinance fixing the salary of the civil justice at $4,000 a year.

Alderman Puller introduced a resolution appropriating $25,000 for the entertainment of the United Confederate Veterans, who will hold their annual convention in this city next year. All three measures were referred for report to the Committee on Finance.

JAMES CASE CONTINUED

The case against John T. James, said to be a private detective, was continued before Judge Griggs in the Police Court. James has an office in the police building in which Attorney E. M. Rouse has quarters. It was alleged that he was in the attorney's office when Mrs. H. A. Baker came there to pay the attorney $10. Rouse is said to have been out at the time, and James is alleged to have taken the money. James was given a receipt, without making any returns to the lawyer.
